Recommended Student Dress Code	Issued:03/03/2008 Revised: 07/14/2023
---	--

The appearance of students enrolled in the School of Pharmacy and Health Professions (SPAHP) is expected to project a professional image for the School. The following recommendations are intended to promote a professional and productive learning environment for students in the classroom. A dress code for special events, laboratories, and clinical experiences may be established by the School, an individual program, or an individual instructor. Instructors/programs may request specific dress on specific occasions, so please abide by the dress code on said days. Overall, these are general guidelines to be conducive to learning.

If a student has any questions about certain aspects of the SPAHP Dress Code, they should contact the Assistant Dean of Student Affairs in the Office of Academic and Student Affairs.

General: In general, casual and appropriate clothing and shoes are recommended for didactic learning. Clothing should still be appropriate for everyone in the classroom setting.
